Dear Murray and Ross:

I wish I knew whether you have a family by now.

This is by way of apology as well as greetings. I sat in front of Student Union for ten minutes Thursday trying to talk myself out of going in to ask Murray's help again. I realized that the help I needed was purely spiritual. First time I had really gone into a tailspin. Of course, he couldn't have been nicer. I have been amused since, remembering how I talked around in circles and he kept pinning me. I am most grateful.

Incidentally, the girl is typing the book. Earle set his foot down on that, but hard. And I expect it is better, even if I make some changes. The girl is Angie Cappa of the Pierce County Welfare Dept. Just in case Earle and I connect with a truck.
