Dear Murray and Rosa:

Rick Anderson collared me last night at the monthly Historical Society function, to ask if he could announce that you would be with us some time in March. I told him I hadn't contacted you again and that you were the usual busy and that I hesitated to call, but that I would contact you somehow.

So here I am, encouraged by my conversation with both of you when I called last month.

If you happen to have slides to go with your Tacoma history, Rick could run them through while you talked. Or, Rick says he could make slides from your pictures, which would take a little time I reckon. Many of these retirees over here are familiar with historical Tacoma and would be interested I am sure.

I just called Rick and he said the second Saturday night or Sunday would be fine. On the third Saturday, there is a monthly do at the country club that takes development people. And of course Melissa's baby is due in latish March and they will both be on pins about that.

Last week, I picked up your (and Lane's) Seattle Pictorial. I think it's great, well-organized, with good captions and your sense of humor showing through. I enjoyed it much.

Although I don't get Sunday's "bugle" I also very much enjoy your lively and witty reviews. I always look first for these on week-ends.

Last Night's Historical Society do wouldn't be hard to follow. The president of the society, Meg Anderson, had been approached by a "swing" band that comes over here regularly to rehearse at a cabin on the development. Well, it turned out to be jazz, 16 men and 3 women, with big, loud stuff. I helped with the
